REPORT

TO

The Right Honourable HENRY CHAPLIN, M.P.,
President of the Local Government Board, &c. &c.

(1894.)

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to submit to you the following report on the marriages, births, and deaths registered in England and Wales during the year 1894.

POPULATION.

The population of England and Wales, as enumerated on 6th April 1891, consisted of 29,002,525 persons. The natural increase, by excess of births over deaths, from the beginning of April 1891 to the middle of the year 1894 amounted to 1,121,145, and this would raise the population to 30,123,670 at the latter date. In the absence of precise information regarding emigration and immigration the estimated populations published in the Annual Reports are based on the assumption that the rate of increase which had prevailed in the intercensal period immediately preceding has since been maintained. Estimated by this method the population in the middle of the year 1894 was 30,060,763, including 14,565,660 males, and 15,495,103 females (Table 1). It is on this population that the rates for 1894 in the present report have been calculated.

MARRIAGES.

The number of marriages registered in the year 1894 was 226,449, corresponding to a rate of 15·1 persons married per 1000 living. This is a slight recovery from the very low rate of 1893, which had been 14·7, and also on the average rate (14·9) in the ten years 1884-93. The lowest marriage-rates in registration counties during 1894 were 10·5 in Rutlandshire, 11·6 in Middlesex, 11·9 in Huntingdonshire, 12·1 in Westmorland, 12·2 in Hertfordshire, 12·3 in Buckinghamshire, and 12·4 in Surrey and in Essex; the highest rates were 15·6 in Staffordshire, 15·7 in Warwickshire, 15·8 in Nottinghamshire and in Monmouthshire, 15·9 in the West and East Ridings of Yorkshire, 16·2 in Lancashire, 16·7 in South Wales, and 17·0 in London. Speaking generally, the counties which had shown the highest or the lowest average marriage rates in the ten years 1884-93 occupied similar positions respectively in the scale of marriage-rates in 1894.

The recovery in the general marriage-rate was accompanied by a slight fall in the value of British exports, but this fall did not exceed two per cent. of their value in 1893. The price of wheat, however, fell no less than 13·3 per cent. below that of 1893, which had been the lowest price on record.

* The figures in the marriage-rate column are not strictly comparable with those in columns 2, 3, and 4, inasmuch as the former relate only to England and Wales, whilst the latter relate to the whole of the United Kingdom. The figures relating to exports and imports and to the price of wheat, and those showing the amount cleared at the London Bankers' Clearing House, are derived from the Board of Trade Statistical Abstracts.

Forms of Marriage.—Of the marriages contracted in 1894, 155,352, or 686 per 1000, were celebrated according to the rites of the Established Church, and 71,097, or 314 per 1000, otherwise. In the preceding five years, the mean proportions had been 698 and 302. Compared with the proportions in these five years, the proportion of marriages amongst Roman Catholics remained practically stationary in 1894, whilst that amongst other Christian non-conforming bodies rose from an average of 117, to 119 per 1000. The increased proportion of Jewish marriages, referred to in recent reports, was practically maintained in 1894, the proportion being 5·0 per 1000, as compared with a proportion of 5·1 per 1000 in 1893, and a mean proportion of 4·5 in the preceding five years.

First marriages; Re-marriages, &c.—Of each 1000 men married during the year 1894, 889 were bachelors and 111 widowers; of each 1000 women married, 923 were spinsters and 77 widows. The proportion of re-marriages, as compared with that of first marriages, has declined almost continuously from the year 1876 to the present date. The proportions of widowers and of widows who re-married in 1894 were in both cases the lowest on record (Table 9). The number of persons married in 1894 who were described in the marriage register as having been previously divorced, and who in the above proportions are included among the bachelors and spinsters, was 232, of whom 116 were men and 116 were women. This total exceeded that in any of the preceding nine years, in which the numbers had ranged from 150 to 201. Of the 116 divorced men who married in 1894, 86 married spinsters, 26 married widows, and 4 married divorced women. Of the 116 divorced women who married 92 married bachelors, 20 married widowers, and 4 married divorced men.

Ages at Marriage.—In regard to 5234, or 2·3 per cent., of the 226,449 marriages, the age of one or the other of the contracting parties was omitted from the register. Of the remaining 221,215 couples, whose ages were stated, the mean ages were 28·41 years for men and 26·15 years for women. The mean age of the bachelors who married was 26·54, and of the spinsters 24·99 years; the mean age of the widowers who re-married was 44·13, and of the widows 40·49 years. The figures for 1894 show the first notable break in the increase of the mean age at marriage which has been going on for several years. Compared with the mean ages in 1893 the mean ages of bachelors and spinsters at marriage showed a decrease of ·01 and ·05 of a year, and the mean ages of widowers and widows a decrease of ·48 and ·15 of a year respectively. The following Table shows the mean ages at marriage in each of the ten years 1885–94.

The slight decrease in the ages at marriage of bachelors and spinsters was not accompanied by any increase in the proportions of under-age marriages; among males the marriages under-age showed a further decline, whilst among females they stood at the same figure as in 1893, which is lower than that in any other year since 1857 (Table 9). The registration counties which showed the highest proportions of under-age marriages among men in 1894 were Northamptonshire, Bedfordshire, Staffordshire, Leicestershire, Nottinghamshire, Derbyshire, and the West Riding of Yorkshire. These seven counties had also shown the highest average proportions during the ten years 1884-93, and were among the eight counties with the highest proportions in 1893.

The registration counties which showed the highest proportions of under-age marriages among women in 1894 were Staffordshire, Leicestershire, Nottinghamshire, Derbyshire, the West and East Ridings of Yorkshire, Durham, Northumberland, and Monmouthshire; and these counties, with the omission of Northumberland and the addition of the North Riding of Yorkshire, had also shown the highest average proportions in the ten years 1884-93.

It is generally true that the counties which had shown low proportions of under-age marriages in recent previous years also showed low proportions in 1894; but with respect to these the correspondence is less close than in the case of counties with high proportions of such marriages.

Signature in Marriage Register.—The men who signed the marriage register with marks instead of with their names were in the proportion of 46 per 1000, while the similarly illiterate women reached 54 per thousand. In 14 out of every 1000 marriages both bridegroom and bride signed with marks. As compared with the figures for 1893, the proportion of men who signed with marks showed a diminution in 1894 equal to 8.0 per cent., and that of women, a diminution equal to 5.3 per cent.

Buildings registered for the Solemnization of Marriages.—At the end of the year 1894 there were 15,166 churches or chapels belonging to the Established Church in which marriages could be solemnized, showing an increase of 44 upon the number at the end of 1893. There were also 11,429 buildings licensed for marriage by rites other than those of the Established Church, showing an increase of 1.6 per cent. on the numbers on the register at the end of the previous year. (Table 6.)

Certified Places of Worship.—The number of buildings certified in the course of the year for religious worship under the provisions of the Acts 15 & 16 Vict. c. 36. and 18 & 19 Vict. c. 81. and recorded in the official register was 491, while 422 buildings were removed from the register on proof of disuse; the number standing on the register at the end of the year was 28,287. A revision of the register was commenced in 1894, and at the end of the year had been completed for 37 registration districts. The result of this revision was to remove from the register 289 out of 1624 chapels which these 37 districts had contained. The revision will be continued until the disused places of worship in the whole of the 632 registration districts in England and Wales shall have been expunged.

BIRTHS.

The births registered during the year numbered 890,289, and were in the proportion of 29.6 only per 1000 persons living; this rate being the lowest on record. The birth-rate in 1894 showed a defect of 2.0 per 1000 below the mean rate in the decennium immediately preceding. The lowest birth-rates were 23.5 in Westmorland and in Rutlandshire, 24.4 in

Surrey, 24·7 in Sussex and in Huntingdonshire, and 25·3 in Devonshire. The counties with the highest rates were Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire, 31·7, South Wales 33·1, Monmouthshire 33·7, Staffordshire 35·0, and Durham 35·2. (Table 11.)

Sex.—The births of males were 453,016 in number, and the births of females 437,273, the former bearing to the latter the proportion of 1036 to 1000, against an average proportion of 1037 to 1000 in the preceding decennium.

In registration counties the lowest proportions of male to female births were 985 in Huntingdonshire, 1000 in Rutlandshire, 1004 in Cumberland, 1006 in Warwickshire, 1009 in the North Riding of Yorkshire, and 1010 in Herefordshire; the highest proportions were 1059 in Devonshire, 1061 in Shropshire, 1066 in Suffolk, 1071 in Lincolnshire, 1075 in Cambridgeshire, and 1083 in the East Riding of Yorkshire.

Illegitimate Births.—The infants registered as born out of wedlock numbered 38,343; they were in the proportion of 43 per 1000 births, and of 1·3 per 1000 of the population, these proportions being almost identical with the corresponding figures for the three years, 1891–93, which had been lower than any previously recorded. (Table 3.) In registration counties the lowest proportions of illegitimate to total births were 29 in Middlesex and in Essex, 32 in Monmouthshire, 34 in Warwickshire, 36 in Somersetshire, and 36 in South Wales; the highest proportions were 62 per 1000 in Bedfordshire, 66 in North Wales and in Shropshire, 68 in Norfolk, 69 in Cumberland, and 76 in Herefordshire.

DEATHS.

The deaths registered in England and Wales in 1894 were 498,827 in number, and in the proportion of 16·6 per 1000 of the population; the average rate in the ten years immediately preceding having been 19·2. The death-rate in 1894 was considerably lower than that in any previous year on record, the nearest approaches to so low a rate having been 18·9 in the year 1881, 18·1 in 1888, and 18·2 in 1889. In these three years only previous to 1894 had the rate of mortality in England and Wales been below 19·0 in a thousand.

In registration counties the lowest death-rates in 1894 were 12·5 in Rutlandshire, 13·2 in Middlesex, 13·3 in Surrey, 13·8 in Buckinghamshire, and 13·9 in Sussex and in Westmorland; the highest rates being 17·7 in South Wales, 17·8 in Cornwall, 17·9 in Herefordshire and in Durham, 18·0 in North Wales, and 18·6 in Lancashire. (Table 11.)

Sex.—The 498,827 deaths included 256,015 of males and 242,812 of females. The death-rate amongst males was therefore equal to 17·6, and that amongst females to 15·7, per 1000 living of the corresponding sex. Out of equal numbers living there were 1121 deaths of males to 1000 deaths of females, as compared with an average proportion of 1122 to 1000 in the ten years 1884–93. (Table 3.)

Ages.—On reference to Tables 12 and 13 it will be seen that the death-rates in the several age-groups had decreased almost continuously for several years until 1888 and 1889; that the mortality in every age-group had increased in 1890; and that this increase had been generally maintained during the following three years, 1891–93. In the last four annual reports these excessive death-rates are shown to have been mainly due to epidemic influenza and its complications.

In the year 1894 the death-rates at the several age-groups were not only considerably lower than the mean rates in the previous four years, but were also lower than even the exceptionally low rates of 1888 and 1889.

Since 1856 only two age-groups (males aged 45-55 and 55-65) have at any time shown death-rates lower than those attained at the same ages in 1894. At all ages of both sexes under 45 and above 75 the death-rates in 1894 were the lowest on record. If, however, the average rates in the five years 1890-94 be compared with those in the two years 1888-89, it will be seen that, with very few exceptions, the low rates in 1894 have failed to reduce the average rates in the five-year period to the figures at which they stood in 1888-89.

Infantile Mortality.—The proportion of deaths of infants under one year of age to registered births in 1894 was 137 per 1000, and was lower by 10 per 1000 than the decennial average rate. With one exception, namely, that of the year 1888, when the rate was 136, infantile mortality was lower in 1894 than in any of the previous ten years.

Urban and Rural Mortality.—The death-rates in 1894 in the districts taken to represent the urban and the rural parts of the country were the lowest yet recorded (Tables 28-29). The rate in the urban districts was 17'1, or more than 15 per cent. below the mean rate during the preceding ten years. The rate in the rural districts was 15'6, and was lower than the decennial average by nearly 11 per cent. The death-rate in the urban compared with that in the rural population was in the ratio of 110 to 100, against an average of 115 to 100 in the ten years 1884-93.

REGISTERED CAUSES OF DEATH.

Changes of Classification.—In the year 1881 a new system of classification of causes of death, based on the nomenclature of diseases prepared by the Royal College of Physicians, was adopted in these Annual Reports. The change involved many important modifications of our Tables, and in arranging the details of Tables 17 to 22 of the present Report the figures published in the Reports prior to 1881 have been as far as practicable corrected so as to be, for the most part, comparable with the figures for subsequent years. There still remain, however a few instances in which no satisfactory adjustment has been practicable for the years 1875-80. In order to explain, as fully as possible, the apparent discrepancies between the old Tables and the new, the following expedient has been adopted. Every heading in Tables 17-22 which is affected by a change of classification is marked either with an asterisk or with a dagger, or with both. An asterisk denotes a change or changes in respect of which full correction has actually been carried out; a dagger denotes a change or changes in respect of which no correction, or only partial correction, has been practicable. All the headings thus affected are inserted in alphabetical order in a numbered list of diseases which has been printed as an Appendix to Tables 17-22 (see pp. lxxiv-lxxix), and reference numbers have been added indicating the several changes of classification. An asterisk or dagger following a series of reference numbers in a bracket must be understood as applying to each of these numbers. A reference without an asterisk or dagger indicates a disease which was shown separately in the Extended List of the old Reports, but was classified in the Shorter List under the same heading as that which now includes it.*

The deaths registered in 1894 and in the ten previous years, when distributed to the several classes by their assigned causes, were equivalent to the rates shown in the following table:—

* As an example, the heading Cancer is marked * † in Tables 17-22. Turning to Cancer in the Appendix (p. lxxiv.), the references 45, 81, 138, (77, 113),* 41† are found. These denote that the diseases numbered 45, 81, and 138 in the Appendix were shown separately in the "Extended List of the old Reports," but in the "Shorter List" and in the present classification are included under Cancer; that the heading Cancer is also affected by changes for which corrections have been made respecting the diseases numbered 77 and 113; and by changes for which corrections could not be made respecting the disease numbered 41.

Zymotic or Specific Febrile Diseases.—The deaths registered in 1894 and ascribed to this class of disease numbered 67,849, and corresponded to a rate of 2257 in a million of the population. The zymotic rate in 1894 was the lowest hitherto recorded, with the exception of that in the year 1888, which had been 2133. Compared with the average rates in the previous ten years, the mortality from every one of the zymotic diseases, except diphtheria and influenza, showed a decline.

Small-pox.—The deaths from small-pox in 1894 numbered 820, and were equal to a rate of 27 per million of the population, as against 49 per million, the rate obtaining in the previous year. Of the 820 persons whose deaths were recorded in 1894, only 153 or 19 per cent. were described as vaccinated; 176 or 21 per cent. were described as unvaccinated, whilst with respect to the remaining 60 per cent. no sufficient statement, as to vaccination appeared in the certificates. In addition to the above, 108 deaths were ascribed to chicken-pox, and 50 deaths to “effects of vaccination.” Thus, in the year 1894, the total number of deaths either certainly or possibly caused by variola, and of deaths alleged to have been caused by measures taken to prevent that disease, was 978, or 33 per million persons living.

Measles.—The deaths from measles were 11,757, and corresponded to a rate of 391 per million of the population; a rate which, although it exceeded the low rate of 1893, was below the decennial average by 65 per million. The facts for 1894, unlike those of the previous year, show a serious increase in the mortality from measles in London, the rate having risen from 384 in the year 1893, to 757 in the year under present notice. The 1894 rate in the remainder of England and Wales did not exceed 329, and was considerably lower than that of 1893. No death from measles was reported from Rutlandshire, and the rate was below 100 per million in Buckinghamshire, Huntingdonshire, Cornwall, Lincolnshire, Westmorland, and North Wales. The highest rates were 403 in the West Riding of Yorkshire, 417 in Essex, 434 in Somersetshire, 498 in Leicestershire, 540 in Northamptonshire, 544 in Worcestershire, 608 in Warwickshire, 701 in Durham, and, as already stated, 757 in London.

Scarlet fever.—The deaths from scarlet fever numbered 5032, and were equal to a rate of 167 per million living. This is the lowest scarlet fever rate on record, the nearest approaches to so low a rate being 171 in the year 1891, and 190 in the following year. The mean rate of mortality from this disease in the ten years 1884–93 was 243. The year 1894 is the tenth consecutive year in which the deaths from scarlet fever in England and Wales have been fewer than 8000, the average number of deaths in these ten years having been 6284, and the average rate of mortality having been 220 per million. In the year under notice, the highest county rates from scarlet fever were 189 in Leicestershire, 190 in Staffordshire, 194 in London (which is, however, raised to 224 after addition of the deaths of Londoners occurring in the Metropolitan Asylum Hospitals outside London), 204 in Nottinghamshire, 236 in Cumberland, 244 in Cornwall, and 300 in Lancashire. Five of these counties were among the counties with highest rates in the year 1893 also, whilst the death-rate from scarlet fever in Lancashire has been in excess of that of the whole country in every year since 1882.

Of 961 deaths from scarlet fever of London residents, which during 1894 were registered in London and the Metropolitan Asylum Hospitals situated outside London, 717, or 75 per cent., occurred in Public Institutions, showing a further increase upon the proportions recorded in the years 1892 and 1893. The reports of the Metropolitan Asylums Board show that the mortality among cases treated in their hospitals was equal to 5·92 per cent. in 1894, as compared with an average of 8·03 per cent. in the seven years 1887-93.

Enteric (Typhoid) Fever.—4,781 deaths were attributed to enteric fever in the year under notice, being equal to a rate of 159 per million. With the exception of the rate in the year 1892, which had been only 137 per million, the rate in 1894 was the lowest on record. The average rate in the ten years 1884-93 had been 184 per million. The decline in enteric fever mortality has been general throughout the country; only two counties, Buckinghamshire and Devonshire, having experienced a higher death-rate in 1894 than in 1893. In four counties only, Surrey, Hampshire, Warwickshire, and Durham, has the 1894 rate exceeded the local averages for the previous ten years. In 1894 the counties with highest enteric fever death-rates were South Wales 164, Essex, the West and North Ridings of Yorkshire, and Northumberland 169, Hampshire 179, Nottinghamshire 223, Lancashire 256, and Durham 354. The above are the only counties in which enteric fever mortality exceeded the average rate in England and Wales.

Diphtheria.—8,774 deaths were referred to diphtheria during the year under notice. These deaths were equal to a rate of 292 per million, which, although slightly lower than the death-rate in 1893, was higher than that in any other year since 1863. The rate of diphtheria mortality in 1894 was 53 per cent. in excess of the average rate in the ten years 1884-93. Taking diphtheria and "croup" together, the deaths in 1894 amounted to 10,516, or 350 per million of the population, against 389 per million in 1893.

As had also been the case in the previous year, the rates of diphtheria mortality in 1894 were lower than the mean rate in England and Wales in 34 counties; the eleven counties with highest rates being London, 624; Kent, 380; Middlesex, 334; Bedfordshire, 306; Cambridgeshire, 390; Essex, 596; Suffolk, 370; Norfolk, 394; Wiltshire, 319; Shropshire, 347; and Leicestershire, 584. Of these eleven counties six were among the counties showing the highest rates in 1893 also. The rate in these eleven counties was equal in 1894 to 524 per million, whilst that in the remaining 34 counties of England and Wales did not exceed 196 per million.

Whooping-cough.—The deaths from whooping-cough were 12,354 in number, and were equal to a rate of 411 per million living; this rate shows an increase upon the very low rate of 1893. In 15 counties, namely, in London, Sussex, Essex, Wiltshire, Dorsetshire, Herefordshire, Worcestershire, Warwickshire, Leicestershire, Rutlandshire, Derbyshire, the North Riding of Yorkshire, Durham, Cumberland, and North Wales the 1894 rate was below the rate in the year immediately preceding. In 24 counties the rate in 1894 exceeded not only the rate in 1893, but also the average in the ten years 1884-93.

Influenza.—In the year 1894 there was a still further reduction in the mortality directly attributed to influenza, as compared with that of the preceding year, the deaths numbering 6625, or 220 per million living, as against 574, 534, and 325 per million in the years 1891-2-3 respectively. By far the heaviest mortality from influenza during 1894 was in the southern group of counties, where the rate was equal to 339 per million living, or nearly double that either in the Metropolitan area or in the Northern Counties, where it was respectively 167 and 175 per million. Taking the year 1889 as a standard for comparison* according to the practice adopted in recent reports, it appears that, whereas on the one hand there was in 1894 a decline in the combined mortality from influenza and respiratory diseases in the Metropolitan area and in the Northern Counties, equal to 4·8 and 9·1 per cent. respectively, there was, on the other hand, a marked increase in the Southern Counties, amounting to not less than 14·3 per cent.

On reference to the last column of Table D. it will be seen that, during the five-year influenza period 1890-94, the excess has been greatest in this Southern group of counties, where it was 37 per cent. In the Metropolitan area it was 32 per cent., whilst in the Northern group it was 18 per cent. only.

Diarrhæal diseases (diarrhœa, dysentery, and cholera) accounted for 10,763 deaths during the year under notice, these deaths being in the proportion of 358 per million living, against an average proportion of 691 in the ten years 1884-93. The rate in 1894 was the lowest recorded since the year 1847, the two nearest approaches to so low a rate having been 460 in 1879 and 463 in 1888. In Hertfordshire, Buckinghamshire, Huntingdonshire, Suffolk, Wiltshire, Dorsetshire, and Rutlandshire, the diarrhœa rates ranged from 138 to 184 per million; whilst they reached 424 per million in Nottinghamshire and in Cheshire, 440 in Durham, 461 in Warwickshire, 471 in Staffordshire, 575 in Lancashire, and 624 in Leicestershire.

Hydrophobia was the certified cause of 13 deaths during the year under notice. This is the largest number recorded in any year since 1889, when the deaths numbered 30, the deaths in the four intervening years having been 8, 7, 6, and 4 respectively. Of these 13 deaths, 6 took place in Lancashire, 3 in the West Riding of Yorkshire, and 1 each in London, Middlesex, Derbyshire, and Cheshire.

Puerperal fever caused 2167 deaths, and other accidents of childbirth 2608 deaths. These 4775 deaths corresponded to a mortality of 5·36 per 1000 births, a lower rate than that recorded in either of the two preceding years.

* The year 1889 was adopted in the 55th Annual Report, p. xv, as a standard for comparison, both because it may be regarded as a year of approximately normal mortality and because it immediately preceded the first outbreak of influenza.

Parasitic Diseases.—The deaths returned as due to parasitic diseases numbered 455, of which 339 were attributed to thrush, and the remainder to "other parasitic diseases," such as worms, hydatids, &c. The deaths from parasitic diseases were fewer in 1894 than in any previous year on record.

Dietetic Diseases.—The deaths referred to dietetic diseases numbered 2149, being equal to a rate of 71 per million living, and almost corresponding with the rate (70 per million) in the preceding decennium. The deaths directly ascribed to intemperance numbered 1842, and were equal to 61 per million. This rate, although lower than that in any of the four preceding years, was higher than the rate in any year prior to 1890. (Tables 17-22.)

Constitutional Diseases.—90,645 deaths, or 3015 per million of the population, were referred to constitutional diseases during 1894, the average rate in the previous decennium having been 3280. Cancer accounted for 21,422 deaths, or 713 per million living; this is a slight increase on the rate in 1893, which had been the highest on record. The deaths from phthisis were 41,641, and corresponded to a rate of 1385 per million, which is the lowest rate on record. Diabetes was the certified cause of 2037 deaths, or 68 per million living. This rate differed but slightly from the rates recorded in the two preceding years.

Developmental Diseases.—43,950 deaths, or 1462 per million of the population, were returned as due to developmental diseases. To old age 24,517 deaths were referred; the mortality thus returned was equal to 816 per million living, and showed a further decline from the rates in recent years. Premature birth was the assigned cause of 15,837 deaths, or 17.79 per 1000 children born. From the year 1884 down to the end of 1893 there had been a continuous increase in the mortality from premature birth, but in 1894 the proportion showed a decline, and was below that recorded in either of the three preceding years.

Local Diseases.—253,323 deaths or 50.8 per cent. of the total deaths were certified to be due to local diseases. The mortality from this class, which was equal to 8427 per million living, showed a further decline from the rates of the preceding three years, and was considerably below the average in the preceding ten years. (Table C.) The deaths from diseases of the respiratory system (exclusive of croup), numbered 90,770, and were equal to a rate of 3020 per million living, against an average rate of 3717 per million in the decennium 1884-93. Diseases of the nervous system, exclusive of convulsions, caused 43,510 deaths, and corresponded to a rate of 1447 per million, which is the lowest rate on record. Diseases of the circulatory system caused 46,820 deaths, corresponding to a mortality of 1556 per million. This rate is lower than that in any previous year since 1884, and also below the mean rate in the decennium 1884-93. The deaths from diseases of the urinary system numbered 12,944, and were equal to a rate of 431 per million living, as compared with 449 the mean rate in the ten years immediately preceding.

Violence.—The deaths in 1894 referred to accident or negligence numbered 16,128, and were equal to a rate of 537 per million living or 17 per million less than the decennial average rate. The deaths attributed to suicide were 2,729, and were in the proportion of 91 per million living, which is the highest rate on record. To homicide 298 deaths were referred, the rate of mortality being 10 per million. In 171 of these 298 cases the verdict was murder, and in 127, manslaughter. There were 18 executions in the course of the year.

Ill-defined and Not-specified Causes.—The cause of death in 21,283 cases, or 4·3 per cent. of the total deaths, was so unsatisfactorily stated as to be useless for purposes of scientific classification—the average proportion in the ten years 1884–93 had been 5·0 per cent. The recent progressive decrease in the proportion of ill-defined causes of death is due in great measure to the practice maintained in this office ever since 1881 of issuing inquiries by letter to medical practitioners concerning doubtful or obscure certificates of causes of death. The number of such inquiries in 1894 was 5,062, the result being the transference of a large number of deaths from indefinite to definite headings; for example, 517 deaths were removed from vague headings, such as tumour, or disease of the brain, liver, ovaries, stomach, uterus, &c. and referred to malignant disease; 70 were similarly referred to syphilis, whilst 211 deaths removed from headings such as pyæmia, peritonitis, pelvic abscess, &c. were referred to puerperal fever and other accidents of childbirth.

Certification of Causes of Death.—Of the 498,827 deaths registered during the year 1894, the causes of 454,895, or 91·2 per cent., were certified by registered medical practitioners, and the causes of 31,436, or 6·3 per cent., by coroners after inquest, while the causes of the remaining 12,496 deaths, or 2·5 per cent., were not certified. The 12,496 uncertified cases included deaths of infants who had been attended only by midwives, and those of persons attended by unregistered practitioners, as well as those of persons who had received no medical attendance of any kind in their last illness. In registration counties the proportions per cent. of uncertified deaths ranged from 0·8 in Monmouthshire, 0·9 in London and in Middlesex, and 1·1 in Wiltshire, to 4·2 in Dorsetshire, 4·3 in Warwickshire, 4·5 in Kent, 5·1 in Herefordshire and in Westmorland, and 5·6 in North Wales.

PROGRESS OF REGISTRATION.

The names in the alphabetical indexes of births, deaths, and marriages recorded in the national registers of England and Wales were increased in the year 1894 by 1,842,014, this addition raising the aggregate number of names in the indexes, which at the end of 1894 embraced a period of 57½ years, to 88,895,471. The number of searches during 1894 in the various registers was 54,285, or 3343 more than the number in 1892, which is the highest previous number on record. The number of certificates issued was 35,210, showing a decrease of 1093 from the number in 1893. The fees received for searches and certificates in 1894, and paid into Her Majesty's Exchequer, amounted to 7,172*l.* 10*s.*, or 250*l.* 15*s.* more than the amount in 1892, which is the highest previous amount on record. (Table 30.)

A list of the various public registers and records lodged in the General Register Office, Somerset House, was published in the 34th Annual Report, pages xxi-xxii.

MORTALITY IN THE ARMY.*

The average strength of the Army at home and abroad in 1894 was 219,121, and the deaths were 1871, the rate of mortality thus being 8·5 per 1000, against 9·1 and 8·3 in the preceding two years. The mortality in the Army abroad was 12·6 per 1000, against an average of 12·3 per 1000 in the three years 1891-93; while that in the Army at home was 4·2 per 1000, against an average of 5·2 per 1000 in the same three years. (Table 33.)

MORTALITY IN THE NAVY.†

The average force afloat in 1894 was 64,840. The deaths were 374, being in the proportion of 5·76 per 1000 of the strength. Of the 374 deaths, 263 were due to disease, and 111 to violence; the death-rate from disease was therefore 4·05 per 1000, and that from violence 1·71 per 1000. Of the 111 deaths from violence 48 resulted from drowning, 3 from heatstroke, 52 from other accidental causes, and 8 from suicide.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS OF BRITISH SUBJECTS AT SEA.

Marine Register Book.—In accordance with the Births and Deaths Registration Act of 1874, commanding officers of ships trading to or from British ports are required, under penalty, to transmit returns of all births and deaths occurring on board their ships to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, who furnishes certified copies of such returns to the Registrars-General of England, Scotland, and Ireland. Similar returns are furnished by persons having charge of Her Majesty's Ships directly to the Registrars-General of Births and Deaths. These returns of births and deaths at sea constitute the "Marine Register Book." So far as can be judged by the entries, which are not always very precise, the births in the year 1894 included 17, and the deaths 1080, persons of English origin, while 13 and 198 others respectively were indefinitely described as of "British" origin.

Mercantile Marine.—The Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen reports that the number of masters and seamen afloat during the year 1894 in vessels belonging to the mercantile marine of the United Kingdom (including the islands in the British seas), and registered under the Merchant Shipping Acts, was 240,458, being 516 less than in the preceding year. The reported deaths numbered 3266, showing a rate of 13·5 per 1000 of the strength. This rate was 0·1 per 1000 below the mean rate in the five years 1889-93, but was 0·4 above the rate in 1893, which is the lowest on record. (Table 35.)

Among passengers on board merchant vessels at sea 55 births and 334 deaths were reported in 1894; the births were 23, and the deaths 86, below the numbers recorded in the preceding year. (Table 36.)

* Based upon returns furnished by the Commander-in-Chief.

† Based upon returns furnished by the Director-General of the Medical Department of the Navy.

INTERNATIONAL VITAL STATISTICS.

In Tables 43-60 will be found international statistics concerning the marriages, births, and deaths, in most of the European States.

A comparison of the death-rates in recent years shows that, as in England and Wales, so also in Scotland, Denmark, the German Empire, Prussia, the Netherlands, and Belgium, the rate in 1894 was not only much lower than it had been in 1893, but was either the lowest on record or the lowest in any recent year. On the other hand, the death-rates in Ireland; Norway, and Switzerland showed a slight advance on the respective rates in the previous year.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your faithful Servant,

REMARKS ON THE METEOROLOGY OF THE YEAR 1894.*

By JAMES GLAISHER, ESQ., F.R.S., &c.

The following remarks, both with regard to atmospheric pressure and temperature, are based on observations made near London, but they may be taken as having a general application.

Since 1886 masters are included in both columns, and the employment and mortality figures relate only to persons employed in vessels registered under Part I. of the Merchant Shipping Act, belonging to the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, and Channel Islands. Deaths occurring in the United Kingdom after the seamen have been discharged from their ships, and on vessels employed exclusively in rivers and inland navigation, and on yachts, are not included.

NOTE.—The population in the four years 1862-65 and in the years 1867-69 is estimated by means of the average annual rate of increase observed between the two enumerations of 1861 and 1866. The deaths of French men abroad, civil or military, are registered in the books of the Commune in which they were last domiciled.

* Census year.

† Cholera prevailed in 1865-66, and war raged in 1870 and 1871.

NOTE.—The numbers for Rome were first included with those for the Kingdom of Italy in 1872. The population figures given for census years show the numbers enumerated on 31st December in each of those years; whereas for the end of each of the other years the population is estimated on the assumption that the rate of increase which prevailed in the last inter-censal period has since been maintained.

* The Registration Counties consist of groups of Registration Districts, which are generally co-extensive with the Poor Law Unions. A District which extends into two or more Geographical Counties is included entirely in that Registration County in which the principal town of the District, or the greater part of the population, is located. The boundaries of the Registration Counties differ therefore more or less from the boundaries of the Geographical Counties. For areas and populations of the Registration Divisions and Counties, see pages 64-67.

* The 633 Registration Districts (Paddington 1a, North Bierley 497b, and Holyhead 631 having been constituted Registration Districts since the numerical arrangement 1 to 630 was adopted on 1st January 1881) are collections of contiguous Parishes or Places combined for purposes connected with the Registration of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, and are nearly always identical with the Poor Law Unions of the same names; they are arranged, according to the local position, under the Registration Counties. The Registration Sub-districts (2099 in number at the end of the year 1894) are sub-divisions of Registration Districts, within which the Births and Deaths are registered by Registrars severally appointed for that purpose. The letter W denotes that the Sub-district contains within its limits a Workhouse Establishment belonging to the District or Union; w indicates a Workhouse Establishment receiving inmates from other Districts than the one in which it stands; H indicates a Hospital or Infirmary; L a Lunatic Asylum; and repetitions of these letters show the number of such Institutions in each Registration sub-district.

† The Deaths in the principal Institutions in England in 1894 are given on pages 71-94. ‡

DEATHS IN WORKHOUSES, HOSPITALS, AND PUBLIC LUNATIC ASYLUMS.

THE following Table shows the numbers of deaths (Persons, Males, and Females) registered during 1894 in Workhouses, Hospitals, and Public Lunatic Asylums of England. These figures afford the means of correcting the mortality of districts and sub-districts in which these Institutions are situated. The Table includes 1984 Institutions; of which 759 are Workhouses, Workhouse Infirmaries, or Workhouse Schools; 1131 Hospitals or Infirmaries; and 94 Lunatic Asylums. The Lunatic Asylums are mostly County and Borough Asylums, but a few private Asylums which receive pauper patients (held on that account to be public for the purposes of this Table) are also included. In these 1984 Institutions 65,496 deaths were registered during the year, or 13·1 per cent. of the total deaths in England and Wales, against 11·9 and 12·4 per cent. in the preceding two years; 37,322 occurred in Workhouses, 21,842 in Hospitals, and 6332 in Lunatic Asylums. The proportion to total deaths was 7·48 per cent. in Workhouses, 4·38 in Hospitals, and 1·27 in Lunatic Asylums. The proportion of deaths recorded in Workhouses, which had been 7·10 and 7·12 per cent. in 1892 and 1893, was 7·48 per cent. in 1894.

Information relating to the deaths recorded in many Private Lunatic Asylums, Private Asylums for Idiots and Imbeciles, and in a few other institutions, will be found in the notes to the following pages.

INDEX OF REGISTRATION DISTRICTS.

The following Index furnishes a reference to the Number of each REGISTRATION DISTRICT in the topographical arrangement adopted in the Tables of Abstracts contained in the Report.* The alphabetical arrangement places compound names in the order in which they are pronounced: thus, East Ashford will be found under the letter E, and not under A.

In consequence of numerous alterations (amalgamations of districts and formations of new districts) since the numerical arrangement, 1 to 623, was adopted in the Abstracts for the year 1847, the districts were re-numbered consecutively from 1 to 630 in the Abstracts for the year 1881. Since that date three new Registration Districts have been formed, the District of Kensington (1) having been divided into Paddington (1*a*) and Kensington (1*b*), the District of Bradford (497) into Bradford (497*a*) and North Bierley (497*b*), and the District of Anglesey (630) into Anglesey (630) and Holyhead (631).

For names of Towns, such as Bournemouth, Maidenhead, &c., which are not found in this "Index of Registration Districts," see the "Index of Registration Sub-districts" (pp. 208-217) and "Index of certain Towns" (pp. 220, 221).

INDEX OF REGISTRATION SUB-DISTRICTS.

[In this alphabetical arrangement the principle is adopted of placing the Sub-Districts (or Registrars' Districts) having compound names in the order indicated by the usual pronunciation of those names; thus, East Grinstead will be found under the letter E, and not under G; St. James under the letter S, and not as "James, St." The number against each Sub-District, in the third column, refers to its numerical place in the Tables of Abstracts; thus, Abbey Holme (573; 2) is the 2d Sub-District of the Wigton District, No. 573.]
